The College of Southern Nevada Presents

no greater odds

a film by Patrick Wirtz

Where Are They Now?

Where Are They Now?

NO GREATER ODDS

This film – shared in colleges, at conferences and film festivals, and with community and political leaders – is changing the landscape of higher education in a time when the nation is looking to the future of affordable and accessible higher education for college students.

NO GREATER ODDS

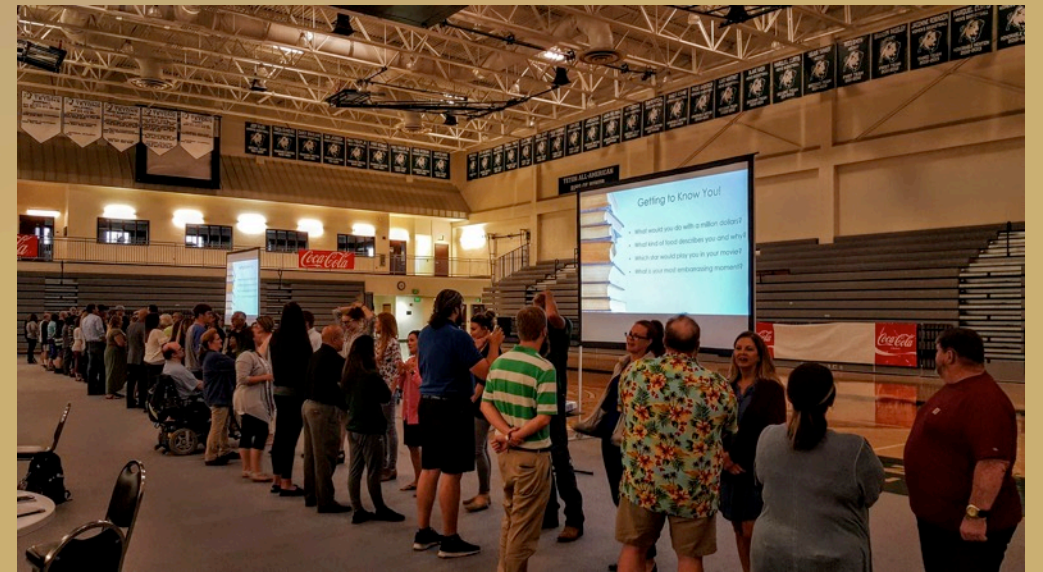

The Outcomes Are Meaningful

- Recruitment - No Greater Odds is a valuable student recruitment tool for colleges nationwide.
- Advocacy – To further the cause of - and highlight the need for - additional funding and legislation, advocacy can help continue student success initiatives and help ensure community colleges are a first choice option for people across the country.
- Awareness – By shedding light on current student challenges, we can continue to create and develop programs and partnerships to help students achieve their academic goals.
- Conversation – we are igniting a conversation that unifies the mission of the community college and highlights the importance of creating opportunities and changing lives.
- Professional Development – Re-engaging faculty and staff by reminding them of the important part they play in helping students reach their success—both inside & outside of the classroom.

NO GREATER ODDS

A top-down view of four hands placed on a white sheet of paper. Each hand has a corresponding handprint drawn around it. The handprints are drawn with purple ink for the top two hands and black ink for the bottom two hands. The text is written in purple ink in the center of the paper. The hands belong to different people, as evidenced by their skin tones, jewelry (watches, bracelets, rings), and clothing (a blue and white checkered shirt, blue jeans).

We Commit to having a hand in our Student's lives
